

Umweltbaustellen

Work Camps for nature and the environment

"Do something, don't just talk!" is our motto when we reinforce paths, plant trees, landscape eroded sites or help mountain farmers.

Every year the Alpenverein youth department (Alpenvereinsjugend) invites young people between 16 and 30 to join working parties repairing environmental damage and helping nature with a constructive contribution. Accommodation and meals are free, with one or two days off to relax and explore the mountains with the other participants. What a wonderful opportunity to make a difference, make friends and join an international community of volunteers working to improve our environment.

Alpenvereinsjugend invites you to spend a week taking care of nature and actively working on your personal ecological footprint!

Each year the programme of Umweltbaustellen usually runs from early Summer to Autumn so watch this space
